

Cederberg Emerging Farmer Forum

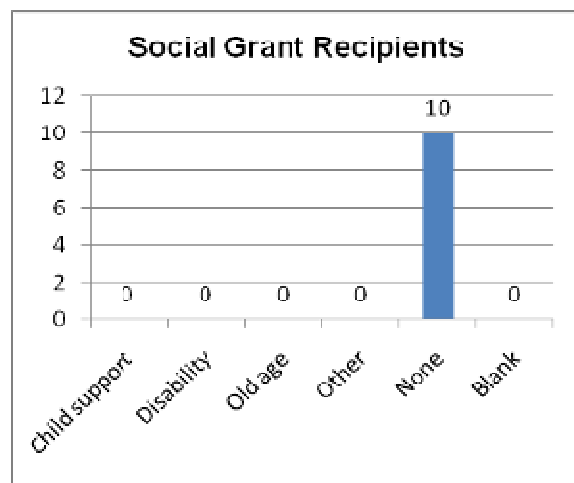

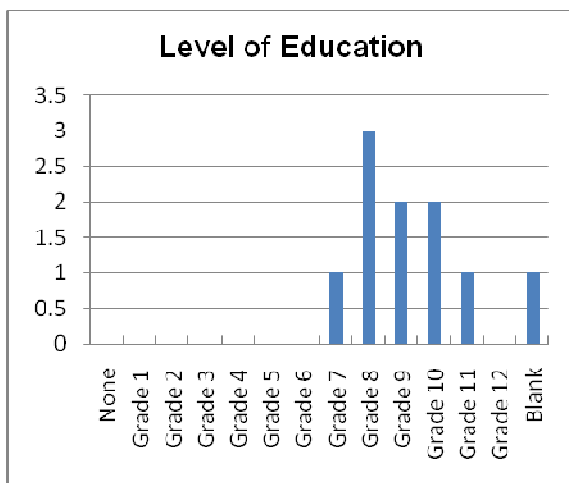

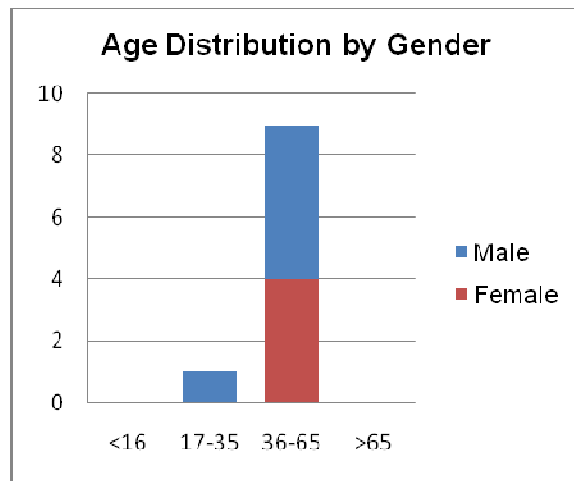

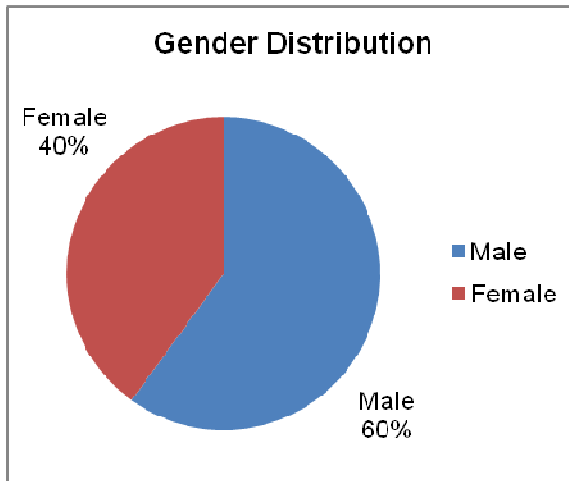

IWRM Objectives – Water for emerging farmers, testing the DWAF subsidies for resource poor farmers & rainwater harvesting, engaging with water management institutions (DWAF, local government and water user associations), empowerment & capacity building

Cederberg Emerging Farmer Forum was established in 2003, as part of an engagement between DWAF IWRM Project Cycle Management Course and Surplus Peoples Project (SPP). The IWRM funded project has the objectives of:

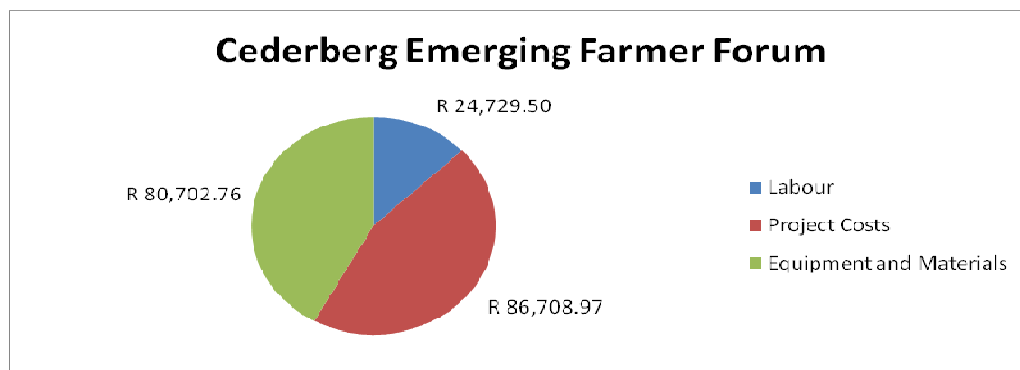

- a) Acting as mouthpiece for their members and build capacity around water issues.
- b) Participating in all WUA meetings. Evaluate the WUA on different levels during the meeting.
- c) Compiling reports with findings and recommendations with respect to WUAs and the interaction of HDI members.
- d) Developing a project proposal to facilitate 500 Rain Water Harvesting subsidies in the Cederberg area.
